Headline:
Showers clearing east. Some brighter spells developing. Cold Saturday.

Today:
A rather cloudy and breezy start, with showery outbreaks of rain, clearing east. Some brighter or sunny spells following for a time, with winds easing a little. Further cloud then likely into the evening, perhaps some drizzle across hills. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Tonight:
Staying rather cloudy overnight, and mostly dry until midnight. A band of rain then spreads northeast, reaching all parts by dawn, and turning heavy and persistent in places. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Saturday:
Persistent band of rain at first, some snow possible, mainly over hills and along its northern edge. Rain and snow easing during the afternoon. Cold, and windy with coastal gales. Maximum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Dry Sunday and cold, but cloudy. Some rain, perhaps brief snow overnight. Fine, dry but cold Monday. Further rain and strong winds clearing northeast Tuesday morning and turning milder.
